Item 4. Advisory Business

VestGen provides investment advisory and investment management services to individuals, investment companies, pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations and business entities (“clients”). VestGen has been an SEC registered investment adviser since February 11, 2002.

The Firm operates a Managed Accounts Platform. The Managed Accounts Platform offers Unified Managed Accounts (UMAs) and a robust offering of model portfolios (“Models”) via the Model Marketplace, as well as proposal generation, new account opening, account investment management and account servicing. Additionally, VestGen creates and manages its own proprietary Models and a proprietary mutual fund. In addition to its own Managed Account Platform, VestGen implements its investment strategies and services on a variety of platforms including through brokerage accounts, variable insurance, retirement platforms and third-party sponsors.

VestGen’s Managed Account Platform (HMAP)

The Firm provides a Platform to independent third-party financial representatives, investment advisers and broker-dealers. (“advisers”).

The investment management and investment advisory services provided by VestGen are primarily offered through its Platform. Through the Platform, VestGen provides advisers with access to several of its own proprietary Models and those of third-party investment managers (the “Model Managers”) selected by VestGen as well as access to supporting operational services. The Platform enables advisers to outsource asset management and more efficiently serve their client base and grow their business.

At the beginning of the relationship with the client, an adviser will obtain the client’s financial situation, investment objectives, financial goals, tolerance for risk, and investment time horizon (“Investor Risk Profile”). The adviser determines if it is appropriate to recommend that the client opens an account on the Platform. Clients will establish an account with a qualified custodian with whom VestGen has an existing custodial arrangement.

Based on the Investor Risk Profile and investment goals, the adviser will determine the appropriate allocation of the account among the various Models available and VestGen will manage or effect purchases, sales, or other transactions for the account. In addition, VestGen will have the authority and discretion to reallocate the assets to another Model, typically in the case where VestGen, as Platform sponsor, has determined that a Model Manager needs to be replaced after a thorough review. In managing the account assets, VestGen is specifically permitted to retain all or part of the original existing investments in the account on day one, or to liquidate such investments, at VestGen’s discretion, unless noted otherwise by the client and/or their adviser.

Neither VestGen nor any of the Model Managers guarantees the future performance of any Platform accounts, any specific level of performance, the success of any investment decision or strategy that a Model Manager may recommend, or the success of VestGen’s or the Model Manager’s recommendations in the Platform accounts. The investment and other decisions made by VestGen for the Platform accounts are subject to various market, currency, economic, political, and business risks, and those investment decisions will not always be profitable.

At least annually the adviser will contact the client to determine whether there have been any changes in the client’s financial situation or investment objectives and whether any changes to the client’s account would be appropriate.

At least quarterly, VestGen or a third party selected by VestGen will provide a report to the client and the adviser reflecting all activity in the account during the preceding period, including performance calculations for the prior periods, all transactions made on behalf of the account, all contributions and withdrawals, all fees and expenses, and the value of the account at the beginning and end of the period. However, the client should note that the statement provided by the custodian holding their account is the official record for all account activity. The client should compare the custodial statement to the report provided by VestGen for any discrepancies or omissions. If such a discrepancy or omission is found, the client should call their adviser immediately.

Model Portfolio Management Services and Model Manager Selection

In addition to its own proprietary Models, VestGen provides continuous model portfolio management services to clients using a selection of third-party Models provided by Model Managers. Each Model is designed to meet a particular investment goal. Under a written agreement between the Model Manager and VestGen, the Model Manager constructs a Model based on an asset allocation and selects the underlying investments for each portfolio that is based upon a particular investment strategy and/or philosophy. The Model Manager will provide the buy and sell recommendations on an ongoing basis to VestGen for VestGen to implement within the Model and therefore those accounts that contain the Model. VestGen provides an overlay management service for the Models selected for a client's account by performing all required trades. Depending on the size of the client's account and the number of and price of securities in a Model, VestGen, in its sole discretion, VestGen may allocate the client's assets to a smaller number of underlying securities in order to effectively manage the Model strategy and may decide to reallocate the client's assets to the complete Model holdings when VestGen deems the timing to be appropriate. This variation from the Model portfolio may contribute to performance deviation, including under performance.

VestGen serves as a Manager of Managers due to its ongoing due diligence, review, and selection of the Model Managers available on its Platform. VestGen's Research team reviews the universe of all available asset managers and adds a curated list of best-in-class Models to be available on the Platform. VestGen may hire or terminate a Model Manager at its complete discretion. In the event a Model Manager is removed or departs from VestGen's Platform, an appropriate replacement will be selected at VestGen's discretion. In addition to managing Models, VestGen's Research team provides scorecards on non-model assets based on proprietary and industry-sourced research.

Certain Model Managers may pursue an investment strategy that utilizes underlying mutual funds or ETFs advised by the Model Manager or its affiliates, ("proprietary fund"). In such a situation, the Model Manager may receive fees from this proprietary fund for serving as the investment adviser. These fees are in addition to the management fees the Model Managers receive from the clients for the ongoing management of the Model Portfolios available on VestGen's Platform.

As discussed below, VestGen acts as the adviser on a mutual fund, the Tactical Dividend and Momentum Fund. A conflict exists when clients and/or their adviser selects a VestGen Model because many of the VestGen Models contain the VestGen managed Mutual Fund as part of the Model's underlying holdings. Depending on the Model, the allocation to the VestGen managed Mutual Fund ranges from approximately 0% to 75% of the total Model holdings. When VestGen Models are selected, VestGen will earn a dual fee – an investment advisory fee from the client in addition to investment advisory fees paid to VestGen from the mutual fund.

Investment Advisory Services

Brokerage Platforms:

VestGen provides discretionary investment management services, including Platform accounts, for clients that hold assets at certain qualified custodians. For a list of these custodians please contact VestGen at (888) 641-7100. In addition to Models, investments recommended and made by VestGen in brokerage accounts include no-load and load-waived mutual funds, including mutual funds managed by VestGen, ETFs, individual stocks and bonds.

See Item 5 for a summary of service fees and custodian fees associated with brokerage accounts.

Variable Insurance Products (Variable Annuities and Variable Life Insurance):

VestGen provides discretionary investment management services to the owners of variable annuities and variable life insurance products issued by many different insurance carriers, which are all registered as securities products with the SEC. Clients will execute a contract with VestGen to manage the investible value of the clients' insurance account among the available investment options, referred to as "subaccounts." The client accounts are held in custody at a qualified custodian chosen by the issuing insurance company and listed in the prospectus. Each individual insurance carrier may require the client to execute additional forms to allow VestGen to provide investment management services. VestGen executes trades through a process defined by each individual insurance carrier or custodian. In some instances, the issuer of the insurance contract has imposed limitations on the frequency of transactions in certain insurance separate accounts. VestGen tracks those restrictions and adjusts account allocations accordingly.

See Item 5 for a summary of service fees and custodian fees associated with variable insurance products.

Retirement Platforms:

Pursuant to a written agreement between VestGen and a qualified plan and/or plan participant, VestGen may serve as a fiduciary defined by the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA") on a variety of different retirement platforms. VestGen offers the following fiduciary services described in greater detail in the written agreement. These services include but are not limited to managing plan and participant accounts, Qualified Default Investment Alternative management ("QDIA"), and selection and monitoring of Designated Investment Alternatives ("Core Funds Services").

The plan or participant accounts are held at a qualified custodian chosen by the plan. Investments recommended and made by VestGen in retirement platforms include no-load and load-waived mutual funds, ETFs, collective investment funds ("CIFs"), individual stocks and bonds. For certain plans, VestGen may recommend that the VestGen Mutual Fund is one of the plan's investment options.

See Item 5 for a summary of service fees associated with VestGen's management on retirement platforms.

Sponsored Investment Management Platforms or Investment Programs:

Pursuant to a written agreement by VestGen and a program sponsor, VestGen provides model investment advisory services to the program sponsor's clients. The terms and conditions of this relationship are determined by the program sponsor. The client signs an agreement with the program sponsor with the help of a program sponsor representative. Through this agreement the program sponsor obtains the information necessary to determine the client's suitability. The client's account and funds will be held and cleared through a custodian and broker-dealer selected by the program sponsor.

VestGen will provide discretionary investment advice on the portion of funds delegated to VestGen. This power and authority are granted by the client in the program sponsor's agreement. VestGen will provide model trading instructions to the sponsor, or a third party as directed by the sponsor who will be responsible for executing VestGen's recommended trades. VestGen has no responsibility for transaction execution.

The program sponsors' representative is required to provide the client with a copy of VestGen's disclosure brochure. For a complete description of the Sponsored Investment Management Platform or Investment Program, refer to the program sponsors Appendix 1 of Form ADV Part 2A.

See Item 5 for a summary of service fees associated with Sponsored Investment Management Platforms or Investment Programs.

Sub-Advisory and Operational Services

VestGen also provides sub-advisory and operational services to clients indirectly. In this circumstance, a third-party registered investment adviser, broker/dealer or other financial institution executes a Sub-Advisory Agreement or a Platform Service Agreement (collectively "Platform Service Agreement") with VestGen. VestGen provides the independent third party with investment management, investment advisory and/or operational services for their clients. As per the terms of the Platform Service Agreement, the client will enter into a written agreement with the third party but not necessarily directly with VestGen. When servicing a client's account in coordination with a third party, the Platform Service Agreement will specify those services to be provided by VestGen internally versus those services to be provided by the third party as well as any fees to be charged for the specified services.

Affiliated Mutual Fund

Tactical Dividend and Momentum Fund

VestGen provides investment management services through its affiliated mutual fund, the Tactical Dividend and Momentum Fund (HTDAX, HTDCX, HTDIX, HTDRX) (the "TDM Fund"), an investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940. The TDM Fund invests in ETFs and stocks that represent the 11 sectors of the S&P 500, partially following a rules-based sector allocation. In addition, the Fund is permitted to invest in other investments when market conditions warrant such use. The prospectus, which is sent to clients, contains a complete description of the TDM Fund, its strategy, objectives and costs.

Please Note – Combined Fee: Although all mutual funds charge fees (i.e. administrative and investment management fees), because of the TDM Funds' relationship to VestGen, a conflict of interest is presented because VestGen may earn a dual fee. A dual fee may occur when clients open accounts on the VestGen Managed Account Platform, because VestGen will earn fees from both (1) its services and investment advice as a separate account manager; and (2) fees from the TDM Fund.

VestGen's Chief Compliance Officer remains available to address any questions that a client or prospective client may have regarding the above conflict of interest.

Item 5. Fees and Compensation

VestGen provides investment management services for an annual fee based upon a percentage of the market value of the clients' assets being managed by VestGen.

VestGen's standard fee schedule is as follows:

Portfolio Value	Base Fee
Up to $500,000	2.20%, then
From $500,000 - $1,000,000	1.85%, then
On $1,000,000 and Above	1.25%

VestGen reserves the right to charge a different management fee, no greater than 2.20% annually, on any account value, in its sole discretion, as agreed to by the client.

Clients pay the investment management or advisory fees noted above which includes investment management services comprised of client profiling assistance, asset allocation assistance, research and evaluation of Model Managers and account performance, Model Manager hiring and termination, fee billing, account rebalancing, account reporting, and other operational and administrative services. It should be noted that the investment management fees may or may not include Model Manager fees, custodial transaction fees or investment advisory fees, all of which may be assessed against a client's account. VestGen's Platform accounts include brokerage, variable insurance, and sub-advised arrangements.

The fee assessed by VestGen varies based upon the services an adviser and their firm have selected and will be outlined in the agreement between VestGen and the firm. Generally, VestGen's fee will not exceed 2.20% per annum. If the client account was introduced to VestGen by a Co-Adviser or Promoter, VestGen will share a portion of their fee with the Co-Adviser or Promoter's firm pursuant to an agreement between VestGen and the firm. VestGen's fees are typically calculated on a per account basis. Mutual funds, ETFs and alternative investments charge their own fees for investing the pool of assets in the respective investment vehicles. Please see the prospectus or related disclosure document for information regarding these fees.

Model Manager Fees:

The Platform fee or investment management fee does not include the fees for the Model Manager's services ("Model Manager Fee"). The Model Manager Fee is separate and distinct from the Platform fee, custodial fees, and investment management fees. Model Manager Fees vary based on the manager selected. The Model Manager Fee is calculated based on the account assets invested in the model. Model Manager Fees typically range from 0.0% to 0.35% but may be higher and will be disclosed to the client at the time of account opening. As part of its services, VestGen may collect fees on behalf of the Model Manager. In addition, VestGen may collect administrative fees from Model Managers for administration of the models in HMAP, due diligence, etc.

Retirement Platforms:

The annual management fee charged by VestGen along with the collection and timing of fees is described in the written agreement between VestGen and the qualified plan and/or plan participant.

VestGen's role and responsibilities are detailed in the terms of the agreement between VestGen and the qualified plan and/or plan participant. Examples of VestGen's responsibilities include creating and managing models for participants, selecting, and managing the Core Funds to be made available to plan participants, or managing Qualified Default Investment Alternative accounts ("QDIA"). Management fees for these services range from 0.10% to 0.65% of assets under management. Depending on the services provided, VestGen could receive this management fee based on the value of individual participant accounts or on the total value of the plan. VestGen has reduced its management fee for instance where VestGen has recommended that the VestGen Mutual Funds are part of the plan's investment options.

Sponsored Investment Management Platforms or Investment Programs:

Per the written agreement by VestGen and a program sponsor, VestGen may receive an annual fee between .30% to 0.50% of the market value of the assets it provides services on. The exact fee calculation and timing of the fee to be charged will be determined by the program sponsor. The program sponsor will calculate and deduct the appropriate fees from the client account and remit those fees to VestGen. For a complete description of the Sponsored Investment Management Platform or Investment Program fees refer to the program sponsor's Appendix 1 of Form ADV Part 2A.

Investment Company Management:

VestGen charges the fees described in the applicable advisory or sub-advisory agreement to the extent consistent with applicable laws and the offering documents of the investment company client. Generally, for investment company clients, VestGen receives approximately 1.00% of assets under management from VestGen Mutual Funds.

Charges and Fees by Third Parties

Clients may be charged certain fees and expenses imposed by third party broker-dealers, insurance companies, investment companies and/or custodians such as custodial fees, charges imposed directly by a mutual fund, ETF or CIF in the account, which are disclosed in the fund's prospectus (e.g. fund management fees and other fund expenses), deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to VestGen's fee.

Fees for Management during Partial Quarters of Service

When a client engages VestGen to provide investment management services, the fees are calculated on a pro rata basis for the initial period. VestGen's investment management services will continue until terminated by VestGen or the client pursuant to the written agreement.

Additional Compensation and Conflict of Interest

VestGen may enter into an arrangement with an Investment Product Manager or Model Manager where VestGen would receive additional compensation (referred to as “Revenue Sharing”) based on the level of client assets invested in those investment products or the Model Manager’s Model(s). The receipt of these Revenue Sharing payments creates the appearance of a conflict of interest as the amounts received may influence (i) which securities may be included in Models managed by VestGen and (ii) VestGen’s decision of which Model Managers to offer on the Platform, and (iii) which Investment Product Manager VestGen invests client assets with. VestGen mitigates this conflict of interest by conducting the same level of due diligence screening on all investment products and Model Managers whether VestGen receives Revenue Sharing payments or not. This due diligence includes the initial selection and the continuous monitoring of investment products and Model Manager availability.

Item 6. Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

VestGen does not provide any services for performance-based fees.

Item 7. Types of Clients

VestGen provides its services to individuals, investment companies, pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations and business entities.

Minimum Account Size

A condition for starting and maintaining a relationship with VestGen is generally a portfolio size of $50,000. VestGen makes an exception for qualified plans in which VestGen has been hired by the qualified plan or participant to serve as the investment adviser. VestGen reserves the right to accept clients with smaller portfolios based upon certain criteria including anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, account composition, related accounts, and pre-existing clients. VestGen only accepts clients with less than the minimum portfolio size if, in the sole opinion of VestGen, the smaller portfolio size will not cause a substantial increase of investment risk beyond the client’s identified risk tolerance. At its sole discretion, VestGen may allocate the client’s assets to a smaller number of underlying securities to effectively manage the Model strategy and may decide to reallocate the client’s assets to the complete Model holdings when VestGen deems the timing to be appropriate. This variation from the Model portfolio may contribute to performance deviation, including under performance. VestGen may aggregate the portfolios of family members to meet the minimum portfolio size.

Item 8. Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

VestGen tailors its investment management services to the individual needs of clients. VestGen manages clients’ portfolios in one or more investment models appropriate for the client. A description of the Model(s) used for that client is provided at or prior to entering an investment management agreement with VestGen.

VestGen primarily composes Models consisting of mutual funds that are no-load or load-waived, ETFs, closed-end funds, individual securities, and where applicable, variable annuity and variable universal life sub-accounts.

For the VestGen Models, VestGen shall perform economic and market analysis, Model design and securities selection. This requires VestGen, at its sole discretion, to be responsible for asset class analysis and selection, capital market assumptions, asset allocation, tactical moves in certain VestGen

Models, vetting and selecting the investment funds and/or listed securities for each asset class, finalizing the weights for all asset classes and holdings, and establishing rebalancing thresholds.

For the VestGen Models, VestGen follows one of three general investment strategies – Strategic, Dynamic or Tactical. The Strategic strategies follow a buy and hold approach; the Dynamic strategies generally consist of index-based buy and hold investments supplemented with actively managed tactical and alternative holdings; and the Tactical strategies are actively managed and can be fully invested in the market but can also allocate part or all the model to cash depending on market conditions. VestGen implements these same strategies for creating and managing models for retirement plan participants, selecting, and managing the Core Funds to be made available to retirement plan participants, or managing QDIA accounts.

VestGen also makes third-party Model Managers available on the Platform. VestGen’s Research team conducts a Model Manager search, on-boards the Model Manager, maintains the third-party models, and performs ongoing due diligence on the Model Managers.

In addition to managing Models, VestGen’s Research team provides scorecards on non-model assets based on proprietary and industry-sourced research.

Mutual Funds, Collective Investment Funds (“CIF”) and ETFs

An investment in a mutual fund, CIF or ETF, involves risk, including the loss of principal. Mutual funds, CIFs, and ETFs are subject to secondary market trading risks. Shares of mutual funds and ETFs will be listed for trading on an exchange, however, there can be no guarantee that an active trading market for such shares will develop or continue. There can be no guarantee that mutual funds and ETF’s exchange listing or ability to trade its shares will continue or remain unchanged. Shares of the mutual fund or ETF may trade on an exchange at prices at, above or below their most recent net asset valuation (NAV), which is the price at which an investor would buy or sell the mutual fund or ETF. The per share NAV of a mutual fund is calculated at the end of each business day and fluctuates with changes in the market value of the mutual fund’s holdings. The trading prices of an ETF’s shares may differ significantly from the value of its underlying holdings during periods of market volatility, which may, among other factors, lead to the ETF’s shares trading at a premium or discount to the value of its underlying holdings.

Market Risks

The profitability of a significant portion of VestGen’s recommendations and investment selections in client accounts may depend to a great extent upon correctly assessing the future course of price movements of stocks and bonds. There can be no assurance that VestGen will be able to predict those price movements accurately.

Management through Similarly Managed Accounts

VestGen’s management, using the investment strategy complies with the requirements of Rule 3a-4 of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended. Rule 3a-4 provides similarly managed accounts, such as the investment strategy, with a safe harbor from the definition of an investment company.

The investment strategy may involve an above-average portfolio turnover that could negatively impact the net after-tax gain experienced by an individual client. Securities in the investment strategy are usually exchanged and/or transferred without regard to a client’s individual tax ramifications. Certain investment opportunities that become available to VestGen's clients may be limited. For example, various mutual funds or insurance companies may limit the ability of VestGen to buy, sell, exchange or transfer securities consistent with its investment strategy. VestGen allocates investment opportunities among its clients on a fair and equitable basis.

Use of Margin

To the extent that a client authorizes the use of margin, and margin is thereafter employed by VestGen in the management of the client's investment portfolio, the market value of the client's account and corresponding fee payable by the client to VestGen will be increased. As a result, in addition to understanding and assuming the additional principal risks associated with the use of margin, clients authorizing margin are advised of the potential conflict of interest whereby the client's decision to employ margin correspondingly increases the management fee payable to VestGen. Accordingly, the decision as to whether to employ margin is left totally to the discretion of the client.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves the risk of loss. Clients should be prepared to bear such losses.

Item 9. Disciplinary Information

VestGen does not have any required disclosures that would be material to a client's evaluation of its advisory business or the integrity of management.

Item 10. Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

VestGen must disclose any relationship or arrangement material to its advisory business or clients with certain related persons. VestGen has described such relationships and arrangements below.

Registered Representatives of Broker Dealer

Certain persons associated with VestGen are also registered representatives of Private Client Services ("PCS"), SEC registered broker-dealers and members of FINRA. Clients may engage these persons on matters not related to VestGen managed accounts to implement securities transactions and brokerage services under a commission arrangement. Clients are under no obligation to engage such persons and may choose brokers or agents not affiliated with VestGen to satisfy those brokerage needs. PCS may charge brokerage commissions to affect these securities transactions and services. A portion of these commissions may be paid by PCS to such associated persons. Prior to affecting any transactions, clients are required to enter into a new account agreement with PCS. The brokerage commissions charged by PCS may be higher or lower than those charged by other broker-dealers.

In addition, certain of VestGen's associated persons may also receive ongoing 12b-1 or shareholder service fees for mutual fund purchases not related to any assets in VestGen managed accounts; these fees are received from the mutual fund company during the period that the client maintains the mutual fund investment. A conflict of interest may exist to the extent that VestGen recommends the purchase of securities where a VestGen associated person receives commissions or other additional compensation because of VestGen's recommendations. VestGen has procedures in place to ensure that any recommendations made by such associated persons are in the best interest of clients.

On certain occasions, a PCS registered VestGen associate may earn selling or trail compensation for a qualified plan; and that the plan or some portions of the plan are managed by VestGen. On such occasions, the amount of selling or trail compensation shall be considered by VestGen in setting the percentage of management fee to be charged.

Less than 0.1% of the total revenue generated by VestGen in 2023 were Registered Representative related business.

Item 11. Code of Ethics

VestGen and persons associated with VestGen are permitted to buy or sell securities that it also recommends to clients only when consistent with VestGen's policies and procedures. VestGen has adopted a code of ethics that sets forth the standards of conduct expected of its associated persons and requires compliance with applicable securities laws ("Code of Ethics").

In accordance with Section 204A of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, the Code of Ethics contains written policies reasonably designed to prevent the unlawful use of material non-public information by VestGen or any of its associated persons. The Code of Ethics also requires that certain of VestGen's personnel (called "Access Persons") report their personal securities holdings and transactions and obtain pre-approval of certain investments such as initial public offerings and limited offerings.

When VestGen is purchasing or considering purchasing any security on behalf of a client, no Access Person may affect a transaction in that security prior to the completion of the purchase or until a decision has been made not to purchase such security. Similarly, when VestGen is selling or considering the sale of any security on behalf of a client, no Access Person may affect a transaction in that security prior to the completion of the sale or until a decision has been made not to sell such security. These requirements are not applicable to: (i) direct obligations of the Government of the United States; (ii) money market instruments, bankers' acceptances, bank certificates of deposit, commercial paper, repurchase agreements and other high-quality, short-term debt instruments, including repurchase agreements; (iii) shares issued by mutual funds or money market funds; and (iv) shares issued by unit investment trusts that are invested exclusively in one or more mutual funds.

Clients and prospective clients may contact VestGen to request a copy of its Code of Ethics.

Item 12. Brokerage Practices

As discussed above, in Item 4, VestGen provides discretionary investment management for clients with brokerage accounts at certain qualified custodians. Factors which VestGen considers in recommending which custodians a client can use include the custodians' respective financial strength, reputation, execution, pricing, research, and service. The custodian must enable VestGen to obtain many mutual funds without transaction charges and other securities at nominal transaction charges.

The commissions paid by VestGen's clients comply with VestGen's duty to obtain "best execution." Clients may pay commissions that are higher than another qualified broker-dealer might charge to affect the same transaction. VestGen determines that the commissions are reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services received. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a broker-dealer's services. The services reviewed are the value of research provided, execution capability, competitive commission rates and responsiveness of the broker-dealer. VestGen periodically and systematically reviews its policies and procedures regarding its recommendation of broker-dealers considering its duty to obtain best execution.

The client may direct VestGen in writing to use a particular broker-dealer to execute some or all transactions for the client. In that case, the client will negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with that broker-dealer. VestGen will not seek better execution services or prices from other broker-dealers or be able to “batch” client transactions for execution through other broker-dealers with orders for other accounts managed by VestGen. As a result, the client may pay higher commissions, other transaction costs or greater spreads, or receive less favorable net price on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case. Subject to its duty of best execution, VestGen may decline a client’s request to direct brokerage if, in VestGen’s sole discretion, such directed brokerage arrangements would result in additional operational difficulties or violate restrictions imposed by other broker-dealers.

Consistent with obtaining best execution, brokerage transactions may be directed to certain broker-dealers in return for investment research products and/or services which assist VestGen in its investment decision-making process. Such research generally will be used to service all of VestGen’s clients, but brokerage commissions paid by one client may be used to pay for research that is not used in managing that client’s portfolio. The receipt of investment research products and/or services as well as the allocation of the benefit of such investment research products and/or services pose a conflict of interest because VestGen does not have to produce or pay for the products or services.

VestGen’s Chief Compliance Officer remains available to address any questions that a client or prospective client may have regarding the above conflict of interest.

“Batch” Transactions

Transactions for each client generally will be executed independently, unless VestGen decides to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. VestGen may (but is not obligated to) combine or “batch” such orders to obtain best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates, or to allocate equitably among VestGen’s client’s differences in prices and commissions or other transaction costs that might have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. Under this procedure, transactions will generally be averaged as to price and allocated among VestGen’s clients pro rata to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client on any given day. To the extent that VestGen determines to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which VestGen’s Supervised Persons may invest, VestGen generally does so in accordance with applicable rules promulgated under the Advisers Act and no-action guidance provided by the staff of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. On many occasions, due to the management platform chosen by the client, VestGen must use a certain broker-dealer to execute a trade. Due to trade execution delay constraints mandated by the executing broker-dealer, clients may not receive the same price for certain securities purchased the same day in other VestGen managed products. VestGen does not receive any additional compensation or remuneration due to the aggregation. In the event that VestGen determines that a prorated allocation is not appropriate under the particular circumstances, the allocation will be made based upon other relevant factors, which may include: (i) when only a small percentage of the order is executed, shares may be allocated to the account with the smallest order or the smallest position or to an account that is out of line with respect to security or sector weightings relative to other portfolios, with similar mandates; (ii) allocations may be given to one account when one account has limitations in its investment guidelines which prohibit it from purchasing other securities which are expected to produce similar investment results and can be purchased by other accounts; (iii) if an account reaches an investment guideline limit and cannot participate in an allocation, shares may be reallocated to other accounts (this may be due to unforeseen changes in an account's assets after an order is placed); (iv) with respect to sale allocations, allocations may be given to accounts low in cash; (v) in cases when a pro rata allocation of a potential execution would result in a very small allocation in one or more accounts, VestGen may exclude the account(s) from the allocation; the transactions may be executed on a pro rata basis among the remaining accounts; or (vi) in cases where a small proportion of an order is executed in all accounts, shares may be allocated to one or more accounts on a random basis.

Software and Support Provided by Financial Institutions

Although not a material consideration when recommending custodians, VestGen may receive without cost, computer software and related systems support. Such services allow VestGen to better monitor client accounts maintained at the custodian. VestGen may receive software and related support without cost because VestGen renders investment management services to clients that, in the aggregate, maintain a certain level of assets at the custodian.

VestGen may receive the following benefits from the custodian/broker-dealer: receipt of duplicate client confirmations and bundled duplicate statements; access to a trading desk; access to block trading which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts; access to an electronic communication network for client order entry and account information; and attendance at custodians'/broker-dealers' sponsored conferences.

Item 13. Review of Accounts

VestGen monitors clients' portfolios as part of an ongoing process with account reviews conducted periodically. Such reviews consist of system-generated reports identifying client portfolios that may be out of tolerance for the allocation selected. Quarterly, the portfolios are reviewed for performances falling outside the expected range. When such inconsistencies are discovered, the allocation, executed trades and other transactions of the portfolio are analyzed by a staff member of VestGen under the supervision of the Co-Chief Investment Officer. Reviews may also be conducted with the client by the referring solicitor. More frequent reviews may be triggered by a change in the investment objectives of the client such as tax considerations, large deposits or withdrawals, or the opinion of VestGen that a tactical reallocation of accounts is appropriate.

All clients are encouraged to discuss their needs, goals and objectives with VestGen or the soliciting financial representative and to keep VestGen informed of any changes thereto.

Clients are provided with transaction confirmation notices and regular summary account statements directly from the broker-dealer or custodian for the accounts. VestGen may also provide clients with quarterly performance reports.

Item 14. Client Referrals and Additional Compensation

As disclosed in the written agreement between the client and VestGen, VestGen may pay a portion of the advisory fee to a sponsor who referred the client to VestGen. Any such referral fee is paid solely from VestGen's investment management fee and does not result in any additional charge to the client. The sponsor is also required to provide the client with a copy of this disclosure brochure which meets the requirements of Rule 204-3 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 and a copy of a disclosure brochure containing the terms and conditions of the sponsor's arrangement including compensation. As discussed in Item 5 of this Brochure under the heading "Additional Compensation and Conflicts of Interest”, VestGen may receive Revenue Sharing payments from certain investment product managers or Model Managers based on the level of client assets allocated to those investment product managers or Model Managers by VestGen. VestGen mitigates this conflict of interest by conducting the same level of due diligence on all investment products and Model Managers whether or not VestGen receives Revenue Sharing Payments. This due diligence includes the initial selection and the continuous monitoring of investment products and Model Managers.

Item 15. Custody

VestGen does not serve as a custodian of client accounts. Clients will receive statements, at least quarterly, directly from the broker-dealer, other custodian or a third party on their behalf for their account.

However, VestGen is deemed to have inadvertent custody of clients’ funds and securities when clients have standing authorizations with their custodian to move money from the client’s account to a third party (“SLOA”) and under that SLOA authorize us to designate the amount or timing of transfers with the custodian. The SEC has set forth a set of standards intended to protect client assets in such situations, which we follow. We do not have a beneficial interest on any of the accounts we are deemed to have Custody where SLOAs are on file. In addition, account statements reflecting all activity on the account(s) are delivered directly from the qualified custodian to each client at least quarterly. You should carefully review those statements against reports received from us. When you have questions about your account statements, you should contact us, your Financial Representative or the qualified Custodian preparing the statement.

Item 16. Investment Discretion

The agreements signed by the client give VestGen the authority to exercise discretion on behalf of clients. VestGen is considered to exercise investment discretion over a client’s account if it can affect transactions for the client without first having to seek the client’s consent. VestGen is given this authority through a limited power-of-attorney included in the agreement between VestGen and the client. Clients may request a limitation on this authority (such as requesting that certain securities are not to be bought or sold).

Item 17. Voting Client Securities

VestGen, or its delegated non-affiliated third-party vendor, may vote client securities (proxies) on behalf of its clients. When VestGen accepts such responsibility, it will only cast proxy votes in a manner consistent with the best interest of its clients. Absent of special circumstances, all proxies will be voted consistent with guidelines established and described in VestGen’s Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures, as they may be amended from time to time. Clients may contact VestGen to request information about how VestGen voted proxies for that client’s securities or to get a copy of VestGen’s Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures.

In situations where there may be a conflict of interest in the voting of proxies due to business or personal relationships that VestGen maintains with persons having an interest in the outcome of certain votes, VestGen takes appropriate steps to ensure that its proxy voting decisions are made in the best interest of its clients and are not the product of such conflict.

Item 18. Financial Information

VestGen has not attached a balance sheet for its most recent fiscal year because it does not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client and six months or more in advance.
